CALL FOR CHAPTERS

As service enterprises produce more intangible products, it becomes harder gaining a good position in the minds and perpetuates it as against other business organizations. As a service-oriented industry and with its distinctive characteristics, tourism is based on experiences. In a limited period of time and a particular location, with agreement and participation of individuals, it is necessary to provide the highest level of service and to keep the quality of interaction at a certain level. In the tourism sector, differentiation and new perspectives are needed in order to increase the quality of experiences and to have a different position in the minds of individuals than competitors. There is a crucial role of efficient management of business processes (e.g. preproduction, during production, human resources, management structure) in order to ascertain this differentiation. Herein, especially in service/tourism industry, the pursuance of new tendencies will provide substantial benefits to the relevant enterprises at all of these processes. From this point of view, with this chapter, it is aimed to guide tourism organizations in terms of improving service encounter processes and quality of experiences by giving crucial tips about current issues and perspectives.

For this purpose, we respectfully present our invitation to the international book chapter authorship, which aims to address current tourism issues and perspectives on the basis of the following topics:
